VALENZUELA MAKES LAST FIGHT FOR LIFE

G.O.P.'s Routine Business Quickly Dispatched

WIFE-KILLER GUILTY, SAY JURORS

Doomed to Hang Unless Saved by Appeal or Found Insane

Only two slim hopes for life remain to Natividad Valenzuela, 24, who was doomed by a superior court jury verdict last night to be hanged on the gallows of San Quentin prison for the murder May 2 of his 17-year-old bride, Jovita. One of these hopes is Valenzuela's sanity hearing, which opened this morning before the same jury of eight women and four men which found him guilty of first degree murder, and the second is the automatic appeal from the verdict requiring capital punishment, provided by a new act of the state legislature.

No Mercy Plea

The jury filed back into the court room after six hours and 23 minutes of deliberation, at 9:13 p. m. Superior Judge James L. Allen received the verdict. Mrs. Frances R. Nelson, wife of a former district attorney, A. P. Nelson, as forewoman, read the verdict sealing Valenzuela's fate. "We find the defendant, Natividad Valenzuela, guilty of murder in the first degree, as charged in the information." There was no recommendation for mercy or life imprisonment.

Stunning Blow

Today the second, and almost hopeless, phase of Valenzuela's battle for life opened, with Defense Attorney Harry Westover calling the defendant's brother, Nasario, to testify concerning alleged insane acts occurring during the past 10 years.

A stunning blow was dealt the defendant when Valenzuela was not in his right mind when he beat his wife to death with an automobile jack, and then rolled her body into a lonely irrigation ditch, when Dr. Edward Waite of Norwalk State Hospital, called by Mr. Westover to the stand, told the jury that Valenzuela was on May 2, and is now, sane.

Says Defendant Sane

Dr. Aaron Rosenof, Los Angeles psychiatrist, was to testify that Valenzuela is sane, when he took the stand this afternoon. He and Dr. Waite were appointed by Judge Allen as court psychiatrists to rule on the case. The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

Search Recalled

A search was immediately launched for Valenzuela, who was arrested within a few yards of the scene of the crime, on May 12. That same day a coroner's jury returned a verdict that Jovita Valenzuela had died at the hands of her husband.

He was arraigned, given a preliminary hearing and brought into superior court to stand trial at a remarkably short period of time. From the beginning Valenzuela admitted his guilt.

9 Mad Criminals Still at Large

ST. PETER, Minn., June 9. (AP)—The seventh of 16 criminally insane convicts who broke out of St. Peter state asylum Sunday night was caught today as the hunt for the maniacal ringleaders was pressed over a broad front.

William Lannenji, alias Lamm, St. Louis county truck driver committed for automobile theft, was captured six miles from the asylum at Ashawa, Minn.

Nine of the lunatics were still at large. Two were being sought in the woods near Norwood, Minn., after they fled on foot when pursuing officers forced their car into a ditch.

DEMAND FOR MORE PAY REFUSED

Growers Assert Granting Request Would Ruin Industry

A county-wide strike of citrus field workers, tying up the entire Valencia industry, was threatened today by representatives of the Mexican pickers union, unless demands for radical wage increases are met by packers and ranchers by 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Demands have been made for an increase from 5 1/2 cents per picked box of fruit to 12 cents per box for the first 30 boxes, and 7 cents a box thereafter by the pickers union, S. H. Strathman, growers representative, said today. The growers will refuse to meet the demand, Mr. Strathman said, contending that "to yield to such demands, and to accept the domination of a radically controlled union in the harvesting of a perishable crop, would mean the ruination of the industry."

In the meantime, according to Sheriff Logan Jackson, bands of "night-riders," or strong arm men working in the interests of the group urging strike, are terrorizing Mexican field workers throughout the county, threatening them with beatings and mistreatment if they fail to strike.

The sheriff has provided armed escorts for the workers for the past two days, and will continue to do so, he said. Special forces of deputies will be on guard at all times against violence.

Growers and packers throughout the county yesterday held a (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Quadruplets Are Month Old Today

PASSAIC, N. J., June 9. (AP)—Frances, Frank, Fern, and Ferdinand Kasper—better known as the Kasper quadruplets—were a month old today and 4 pounds 9 1/2 ounces heavier than at birth.

Their collective weight was 17 pounds 14 1/2 ounces, compared with their birth weight of 13 pounds 5 ounces. Dr. Frank Jamieson, who delivered them May 9, described their condition as "very good."

Two Fliers Die In Oakland Crash

OAKLAND, June 9. (AP)—Two naval reserve fliers were killed and two escaped death in the crash of an amphibian plane at the Oakland airport today.

The victims were Lieut. F. B. Waterman, Sausalito, and James E. Pinkerton, Berkeley, radio man. Clifford S. Miller, Fresno, and Cameron G. Pierce, San Mateo, leaped when the plane began to fall from a low altitude.

Fourth Set of Twins for Couple

PASADENA, June 9. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Valenzuela of Pasadena believe in double-blessedness. They have just welcomed their fourth set of twins, Arturo and Carolina. Besides the eight twins, the couple has two other children.

TAKES FIRE TO FIREMEN

Rushes Blazing Car to Station

Mahomet going to the mountain didn't have anything on a Los Angeles truck driver yesterday. Informed by passing motorists that his truckload of goods was ablaze, the driver went to the fire department, instead of waiting for the fire-fighters to come to his aid.

It happened near Buena Park. A truck owned by the Goodwill Industries in Los Angeles was hauling a load of papers and rags along Manchester boulevard when a passerby apparently threw a lighted cigaret into the rear of the machine. Other drivers told the Goodwill employee that his cargo was afire.

He threw some of the blazing mass from the truck and then sought aid from the Buena Park department, halting his smoldering truck beside a fireplug. The Buena Park department called on State Forester Joe Scherman for aid, and fire equipment was rushed from Orange to assist in extinguishing the blaze.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $100, with the destroyed load valued at $50.

PLAN COUNTY DRIVE ON LIQUOR

Lack of Cooperation by Some Ministers Is Charged

Plans for a county-wide, house-to-house canvass for signers on a petition asking that the local option liquor measure be placed on the November ballot were formed yesterday afternoon by representatives of dry forces in Orange county, meeting in the Santa Ana First Methodist church.

Lack of cooperation among Santa Ana ministers was charged during report of petition circulators, who have already secured several hundred signatures. Declaring that one minister, when asked to sign the petition, said, "I don't want to have anything to do with it," Mrs. Margaret R. Utt, president of the Tustin W. C. T. U., suggested that some means of "evangelizing all of Santa Ana's ministers" be found.

To this remark, the Rev. Grover Ralston, Garden Grove, replied that it was no new thing for some Santa Ana ministers to be uncooperative on this question, and advised those present to work out their plans without depending solely upon ministers to promote the measure.

Perry F. Mathis, Anaheim, presided. (Please Turn to Page 9, Col. 3)

CLAIMS BILL PADDED

Officials Probe Demand Of Flood Expert for Extra Money

The second installment of payment he claims the county owes him for services in Washington, D. C., on behalf of the Orange county flood control project, was demanded on the board of supervisors today by George W. Malone, consulting engineer, when a bill for $929.46 expenses was presented.

Says Bill Padded

Supervisor N. E. West threw a minor bombshell into the meeting, when he refused to sign the demand, stating that the bills were "exorbitant, excessive, and represented padding on the part of Mr. Malone."

The engineer two weeks ago received payment of $1020 from the county for his services while in Washington for 21 days.

Action of the board was deferred until this afternoon, when the expense sheets were to be broken down and analyzed. Prior to this decision, Supervisor West withdrew his objections to a part of the account, which had been checked by PWA and flood control officials, but refused to give his approval to demands for $570.87.

Erases Name

Supervisor West earlier in the morning had signed the demands, when they appeared before him with several routine warrants, and later erased his signature, he said, when he examined the documents more closely.

Included in the expense vouchers are items such as $108 for meals for 21 days, secretary's salary, and $71 for messenger and taxi service. Phone bills, transportation bills and other accounts also appear.

Zioncheck's Loose Again; Gallops in His Bathrobe

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—Breaking out of his room at Gallinger hospital and touring the grounds in a white bathrobe, Representative Marion A. Zioncheck today lost his reputation as the institution's model patient.

The Washington state representative, committed to the hospital for mental observation, freed himself by kicking out two window screens.

He galloped about the grounds, whooping and puffing at a long black cigar, until apprehended by guards.

Otto Takes Throne Late This Month

PARIS, June 9. (AP)—Premier Mussolini of Italy and Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria virtually have decided upon the restoration of Prince Otto of Hapsburg to the Austrian throne June 26 or 30, Genevieve Tabouis asserted today in the newspaper L'Oeuvre.

Prince Otto's restoration has received Nazi approval and some German ministers will be among the new monarch's advisors, the foreign affairs commentator declared.

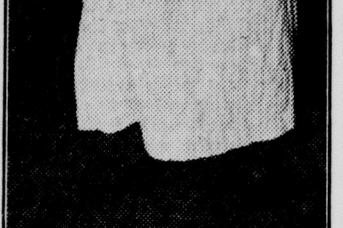

The Little Entente, parts of which once knew the rule of the Hapsburg dual monarchy, has served repeated notice it will not stand for a Hapsburg restoration in Austria.

A year ago Rumania's foreign minister, Nicolas Titulescu, declared the armies of Rumania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia "would mobilize" if the dynasty were brought back.

Last Sunday Little Entente representatives, meeting in Bucharest, again warned Austria against both the Hapsburg monarchy and union with Germany.

The cause of the 23-year-old Archduke Otto, heir apparent to the Austrian throne, was spurred sharply in the last week by reports growing out of a conference between Chancellor Schuschnigg and Premier Mussolini.

It received further impetus when Otto, himself, issued a public appeal to his people to make him their ruler.

"No matter how old the papa, he falls heir to this job in the wee sma' hours," commented 96-year-old George Isaac Hughes as he paced the floor in his home at New Bern, N. C., with his newborn daughter. Hughes also became the father of a son a year and a half ago. (Associated Press photo.)

'Oh, Suzzanna' for Landon

"Landon, Oh Landon, Will Lead to Victory!"—"Try that on your tube," ordered the Kansans who hired this earnest musician and his colleagues to serenade Republican convention hotel lobbies at Cleveland, and he's doing his best. The tune—stop us if you heard this one—is that of "Oh, Suzanna." (Associated Press photo.)

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

CLEVELAND, June 9. (AP)—To many a delegate to the Republican convention has already become a pain in the feet.

Long hours of pacing pavements and the endless standing around that distinguishes the convention—far from other species, benched many a delegate before the opening gavel fell.

"Soak 'em, my friend," comes the advice from some hard-heeled veterans.

"Soak 'em? Never," others caution. "That only makes them tender."

But to the mind of most there is only one relief, summed up in the immortal words of Sam Pepys—"and so to bed."

Florida crashed through today with some advertising for its climate. Real sunflowers, shipped by plane by Florida admirers of Gov. Alf M. Landon, arrived at his headquarters. Up to now the Landon forces have had to be content with artificial specimens of the flower, which is the governor's campaign emblem. In most states it is a late summer bloom.

Philippine delegates say their chairman, Kenneth B. Day, traveled farther than any other person to attend the Republican convention. Day, a coconut oil manufacturer, covered some 15,000 miles on the way from Manila, traveling via Europe.

John D. M. Hamilton, Landon campaign manager, receives the gentlemen of the press in a hotel bar—but don't jump to conclusions. The bar has been closed for the summer and the room diverted to conference purposes. The reporters sit on snappy, modernistic chairs of red leather and chromium.

If jaywalking delegates get run over they can't say they weren't warned. Touring the streets are over the country. She tugged off her gray felt hat, smoothed her dark hair, parted in the middle, and answered.

"I'm just going to have a good time. Well, it's a funny thing to say whether or not you think your own father would make a good president. I've never been in the White House. I don't know how I'd like to live there. No, I'm not engaged. Are you referring to that Texas boy? I saw him once a year ago.

"Yes, I golf, I dance, I swim. I'm not studying for any particular profession. Well—about marriage—I'd rather not say."

She is the only member of Governor Landon's own family to come to the convention "because I was the only one that fought to come." However, she was accompanied by her grandfather, John Landon, a rosy-cheeked man, peering quizzically through his glasses.

KEYNOTER IS ON PROGRAM TONIGHT

Struggles on Planks Continue; Landon Forces Happier

By EDWARD J. DUFFY
CONVENTION HALL, Cleveland, June 9. (AP)—In a perfunctory session which brought none of the party strife to the surface, the Republican convention opened today amidst a profusion of Landon sunflowers.

Committees on platform, and other questions were set up and the members called to meet in an endeavor to reconcile behind closed doors, if possible, the many disputes under way.

Routine Over Quick
Under the forceful if diplomatic guiding gavel of Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, the routine was dispatched in less than an hour.

Some of the delegates and many of the holders of gallery tickets did not even show up. John M. Hamilton, manager for Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, was at the center of an eager group right beneath Fletcher's nose during a large part of the proceedings. He said "all is well" and let it go at that.

Borah Steers Clear

Senator Borah of Idaho, who is not a delegate this year, remained away, but Senator Vandenberg of Michigan—himself a possibility for the nomination in event of deadlock—visited with party leaders on the platform. There were no demonstrations.

Caucuses of some state delegations later in the day were considered more important for the ultimate outcome than the opening session itself, if decisions on whom to support were to be reached. It seemed likely, however, that several of the larger delegations would keep their own counsel to the last compared with the pell-mell rush which put Herbert Hoover across in 1928 long before balloting began.

Recess Until Tonight

Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, for whom this is the first convention, was given an ovation when formally elected to the temporary chairmanship.

The convention recessed at 12:32 p. m. until 8 p. m., when Steiwer will deliver the keynote speech.

Oxford Group's Chief to 'Work' on G.O.P. Delegates

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—The Oxford group, at the end of its first national assembly in America, will try through its founder, Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman, to establish "God-control" in the Cleveland Republican convention.

Dr. Buchman said he would go to Cleveland tonight and would seek to "change" politicians in attendance there.

"The God-controlled are the sane people in an insane world," Dr. Buchman said. "God-controlled people have the answer anywhere."

PEGGY LANDON HELPS PAPA

Alf's Daughter at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, June 9. (AP)—Nineteen-year-old Peggy Ann Landon has come to town—and no movie star ever received a more hysterical welcome.

Enthusiastic crowds shouted and swirled about the daughter of Gov. Alf M. Landon when she arrived in the great, rambling concourse of the railroad terminal last night.

Secretaries from Landon headquarters seized the little figure in the gray tweed suit and scarlet blouse firmly by the elbows and propelled her through the mob scene.

She didn't come here to work, she said, although she did aid her father in his 1934 campaign.

"I came here just to make friends—I hope," she smiled shyly. "I always wanted to come to a convention, and I thought this would be as good a time as any."

Later, in a small parlor, she faced newspaper women from all

DISCUSS SALE OF SCHOOL BONDS

Proposed Refinancing Would Cut Rate Of Interest

In a session which lasted well after midnight, board of education members last night discussed plans for reducing interest rates on reconstruction loans and heard reports on sale of recently-voted high school bonds. Final action on both was deferred until next week.

Of $223,000 in bonds issued for construction of the new high school, $140,000 have been sold. Board members now must decide how many more must be sold, and how they are to be disposed of. Sale of the total issue will not be necessary, it was indicated.

To Call Election

A saving of 2 per cent—amounting to almost $125,000 in 20 years—could be made by another suggested bond issue, for retiring $615,000 in loans for earthquake rehabilitation. Present interest rate on the loan is 4.4 per cent; and a bond issue might save 2 per cent under that if the loan were to be paid off immediately, it was indicated.

The district attorney's office is preparing a resolution calling the bond election.

George B. Newcom, auditor for the board, presented first details of a preliminary budget, to be taken up at an adjourned meeting next Monday night.

McCoy Employed

Linoleum will be laid in the balcony at the high school to smooth the floors, the board decided, with the contractors to pay 20 per cent of the cost, over that of cement floors. The time limit for demolition of the old high school was extended from June 16 to July 16.

Employment of John McCoy as public relations agent for the schools during July and August was approved.

Junior college classes in speech arts, gymnasium, and swimming will again have the use of the Y. M. C. A. next year, according to a contract approved last night on the same basis as this year's agreement.

MORE ABOUT REPUBLICANS

Cleveland's mayor, Harold H. Burton, gave an address of welcome when Chairman Fletcher called the session to order.

Supporters of Governor Landon were very much in evidence, while the opposition, some displaying badges for Colonel Frank Knox of Illinois and Senator Borah, confined their work to the conference room—apparently concentrating on the growing disputes about the platform.

Fletcher had to rap hard and often to make any impression. Ever unable, the long-time diplomat smiled across the heads of his audience as he called, "Delegates, please be seated."

Fletcher Leads Singing

All soon rose, upon Fletcher's direction, to chorus "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Fletcher himself led the words ring.

The hall was silent for the invocation by the Rev. McCartney. "In this solemn hour of national anxiety," he intoned, "we turn with fervent prayer to Thee in Whose hands rests the governance of men. We recognize the insufficiency of mere human counsel, and seek the wisdom that cometh down from above."

"Remember," the invocation implored, "the great army of unemployed" and all those ground down "under the wheels of the depression."

Pay Little Attention

The audience sat again, and the official picture of the convention took some time, but the way was eventually cleared for the city's welcome from Mayor Burton. A burst of applause greeted his salutation to "Fellow Republicans."

Half the delegates paid little attention. A hubbub of talk made it difficult for those in the rear to follow the mayor.

Herman Langerhuth, of Kansas City, was selected by Landon leaders at the convention as their choice for head of the all-important resolutions committee which drafts the platform.

Delegates noticed that the frequent expressions of confidence coming from Landon leaders now contained fewer references to a handwagon rush. At the same time the failure of any coalition of anti-Landonites to materialize had its effect. No single "Stop Landon" leader has emerged to fuse the opposition.

Arm In Arm

For over an hour last night Senators Vandenberg of Michigan and Borah of Idaho walked through streets and parks, sometimes arm in arm. This stroll aroused renewed rumors of cooperation against Landon, but they went unverified.

There was a conference, too, between Frank Gannett, New York state publisher and Borah supporter, and Senator Vandenberg. Later George H. Moses, former senator from New Hampshire who is strong for Colonel Knox, closed himself with Vandenberg. But no announcement of significance came from these parleys.

The arrival of Colonel Knox, Chicago publisher, possibly today, was expected in some quarters to produce more indications of how the actual contest under way might shape up. Also, the coming of former President Hoover for a speech tomorrow night might

California Delegation Reaches G.O.P. Convention

Argue on Platform

The ceremonies this morning evoked memories of past party glories. It was on the same floor that Calvin Coolidge swept to his 1924 nomination.

The major arguments in the resolutions committee promised to be over the monetary plank and proposals by some Landon supporters for a constitutional amendment to empower states to fix minimum wages.

Factions among the Landon supporters, it appeared, were fearful lest the Democratic convention a fortnight hence may pick up the minimum wage constitutional question and capitalize by advocating an amendment to offset the recent 5-4 supreme court decision against the New York state law. But Borah and Vandenberg insisted it would be premature and unnecessary to come out for an amendment now.

Borah's Demand

Borah said minimum wages could be taken care of under the constitution as it stands. He was more intent that there be an unequivocal plank against monopoly, and none for return to the "old, rigid gold standard." He demanded that Landon state his position. An assertion by him that Landonites had entrusted the writing of a monetary plank to advocates of the gold standard was denied by John Hamilton, Landon manager.

"I have planks on these questions," Borah said. "The committee may have them if it assures me of a chance to defend them on the floor, should rejection follow."

Other Disputes

There was no sign that he would be invited to appear. Asked whether he would support Landon if his views were not followed, Borah said he would cross that bridge later.

Lesser disputes were heading up around the reciprocal tariff, federal relief and other Roosevelt policies. All were to be brought to the convention floor after the Hoover speech.

Vice presidential talk bobbed up again with the revelation that Attorney General C. V. Beck of Kansas, of the Landon outfit, had sounded out Gov. H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Wadsworth Dropped

Only 38 years old, Bridges was said to be receptive, even if it meant giving up running for the senate.

The New York delegation apparently dropped the idea of putting James W. Wadsworth for second place. New Jersey will nominate Walter Edge, the former senator.

Steiner's speech tonight (to be broadcast about 6 p. m., Santa Ana time) may focus more attention on him for a place on the ticket.

Over 100,000 applications were reported for the 15,500 auditorium seats. Clevelanders complained that residents had been allotted only 20.

Cousin of F. D. R. To 'SECOND' Landon

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Mrs. Corinne R. Alsop of Avon, Conn., chosen to give a second speech for Governor Landon at the Republican national convention, is a fifth cousin of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

She is the daughter of the late Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of President Theodore Roosevelt, and is a first cousin of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

CLEVELAND, June 9. (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend surveyed the Republican convention scene today, planning "a bigger convention by far" of his $200-a-month pension organization here July 15 to 19.

Clad in a trimly tailored cream colored check suit, the California physician told newsmen he was "taking no part" in the Republican gatherings and was not much interested in its doings.

With Dr. Frank Dyer, head of the Townsend committee in charge of convention arrangements, the physician yesterday inspected hotel and convention facilities. The auditorium reserved for the Republican convention he described as "inadequate" for the Townsend meeting, but Townsend was considering it with a view to greater utilization of space for seating than in the present arrangement.

Smooth, evenly fleshed hogs will produce a finer quality of meat and will cut up with less waste than rough, coarse, wrinkled and flabby animals, farm specialists say.

ITALIAN THREAT CRASH VICTIM GIVEN FRANCE BADLY HURT

PARIS, June 9. (AP)—Spurred by a double-barreled Italian threat, France shook off her diplomatic lethargy today to begin collaboration with Great Britain for a prospective League of Nations session.

Premier Leon Blum's government turned part of its attention from domestic affairs to consider implications of what diplomatic circles was a two-pointed Fascist warning:

1. Italy would withdraw from the league if existing economic and financial sanctions against her are not lifted at the next Geneva meeting.

2. If Italy withdraws, Premier Mussolini would open negotiations pointing toward an alliance with Germany.

Diplomats said a French refusal to move toward cancellation of the Italian sanctions would bring danger of formation of a bloc of five nations which would separate France from her eastern allies in the Little Entente. This bloc would be formed, informed quarters believed, through existing agreements and the suggested Italo-German alliance.

Wind, Hail, Rain Hits Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb., June 9. (AP)—A vicious hail, wind and rain storm whirled across Nebraska today, disrupting communication lines, wrecking trees, and doing some property and crop damage.

The storm moved across the state from west to east whipped by a wind which ranged in velocity from 30 to 50 miles an hour. The rain ranged up to three inches in many sections, and A. E. Anderson, state and federal agricultural statistician, said it soaked the only dry spot left in the state—Fillmore county.

A tornado wrecked the Robert Schroer farm northeast of Kearney but no one was hurt.

Rites Held for Pioneer Woman

Final services for Mrs. Lavinia A. Mayfield, a resident of Santa Ana for 50 years, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in Fairhaven cemetery.

The 83-year-old woman died 31, five weeks after her arrival in Jamestown, R. I., to visit her stepdaughter, Mrs. L. E. Jones. The cremated remains will arrive tomorrow at the Smith and Tullih mortuary.

Mrs. Mayfield was the aunt of Mrs. Bess Hill and Mrs. Lulu Johnson, Santa Ana, whom she raised after their parents died. A nephew is Avery Hall, San Pedro, and a stepson is George R. Jones, Tolleson, Ariz.

French Strikers Fight in Factory

PARIS, June 9. (AP)—Socialist and Communist strikers fought inside a munitions factory at Valenciennes today as fresh walkouts broke over France.

A dozen socialists were reported injured in a clash after Communists refused to accept a labor agreement submitted by operators of the plant. Thirty more socialists escaped over a wall.

The new strikers were called by workers anxious to gain labor concessions similar to those won by 1,000,000 employees who participated in the 14-day "folded arms" refusal to work.

City Court Has Busy Calendar

City Judge John Mitchell had a busy day yesterday. The largest fine in his court was $150 assessed against Watson I. Smith, on a drunk-driving charge preferred by the California highway patrol.

Four persons paid $1 fines for overtime parking. They were Merle Morris, S. Koepple, G. Arthur Treiler and Charles Ishii.

Five alleged speeders were fined. They were Virgil E. Tibbels, $8; George H. Kemp, $6; Boyd Sponenberg, $8; William L. Moore, $5 and John Aguilera, $5.

Insurance Man Wins Honor

W. B. Moore, Santa Ana member of the Orange county district agency of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, today was in possession of a citation from M. J. Cleary, president of the company, for work during the organization's recent "March On" campaign. Mr. Moore led the entire force in Southern California in his classification, and also received a letter of commendation from William Ray Chapman, assistant director of agencies.

Thornberry Estate Worth $12,000

The will of the late Frank L. Thornberry, who died May 27 in Fullerton at the age of 74, was filed in superior court today for probate, by George H. Cole of Sacramento.

Under terms of the will, Mr. Thornberry's sister, Mrs. Virginia S. Cole, is sole beneficiary. The estate is valued at $12,000, $11,000 of which is in cash, and the $1000 represented by the Thornberry home in Brea.

Board Refuses to Pay Union Dues

The board of education ruled last night it will not pay the dues of Thomas E. Williams, printing instructor at the junior college, for membership in printers' organizations.

Discussion revealed that Mr. Williams had joined the Typographical union, the Orange County Printers and the Zamorano club, at the suggestion of the board. But dues for these organizations, amounting to $10.70, were disallowed by the board.

Doctor Loses His Fancy Pea Hen

Dr. Lee Deming, Orange and Dale roads, was out a fancy pea hen today through the efforts of several Mexicans in get automobile this morning, he reported to sheriff's officers.

The car passed his home early today, turned and came back, and one of the passengers fired a gun, killing the bird instantly, Dr. Deming reported.

Hear Radio Expert

E. B. Kruger, technician for the Southern California Edison company here, spoke on light frequencies before 30 radio enthusiasts at the Y. M. C. A. last night. The meeting was the semi-monthly session of the Orange County Radio club.

FLATFOOT DAY IS GONE

"The day of the big flatfoot with No. 12 shoes and a billy club is gone," Police Chief Floyd W. Howard told Rotarians this noon at their weekly dinner meeting in the Green Cat cafe.

"Police officers today have to become more highly trained and more efficient to combat organized crime," Chief Howard said.

The chief described the organization and methods used by his department and the number of cases handled.

In the past year there have been 5193 calls and 5759 arrests, he said, with 3396 of the calls going out by radio.

An average of less than three minutes to answer a call is the record of the department's three radio cars, Chief Howard said. He traced work of the police matron, and concluded by saying a community gets just the kind of police protection it really demands.

Harry V. Hanson was program chairman.

SPEED BLAMED FOR CRASH

James Horgan, 31, Los Angeles entertainer who figured recently in a sensational "frameup" charge in a narcotics case, died last Saturday in an auto crash because of excessive speed, a coroner's jury found today.

Mr. Horgan was driver of a car which skidded and rolled over 600 feet near the Bayshore bridge on Highway 101 Saturday. He died en route to the county hospital. The jury, at an inquest in the Dixon funeral home, Costa Mesa, reported the accident "was caused by the excessive rate of speed at which the car was being driven."

Mr. Horgan recently figured in the trial of Orville Forrester, who charged the police "framed" him on a narcotics charge. After Mr. Horgan testified as to details, the charge against Forrester was dismissed.

Meanwhile Bart Bartelson, 42, Los Angeles, a passenger in the car accident, had recovered sufficiently to be moved from the county hospital to a private hospital in Los Angeles. He sustained a skull fracture, lacerated scalp, and shock.

Bob Bradley, president of the freshman class, was chosen first mate; Max Galusha, scribe; and Madden Dietrich, ho's'n.

BURGLARS LEAVE THEIR KIT BEHIND

They broke into his garage, stole an electric motor, a drill and auto tools valued at $65, but left their burglars' kit behind.

"So reported Guy D. Pollard, Buena Park, to the sheriff's office today. The burglary was thought to have occurred over the week-end, he told officers.

MORE ABOUT STRIKE

series of conferences with District Attorney W. F. Menton and Sheriff Jackson in an effort to outline a plan of attack on the situation. The growers at their request were promised police protection, and no steps toward meeting the ultimatum will be taken before tomorrow's deadline as set by the picket-row's union, Mr. Strathman said.

He also stated the demands of the union and field workers were verified today in letters from Ricardo Hill, Mexican consul for this area. The workers also have demanded free transportation to their work.

"Agricultural groups in Los Angeles county have just experienced a six weeks' siege from this same union," Mr. Strathman said. "During that strike three men were shot, two stabbed and approximately 40 beaten up. This strike was characterized by communist demonstrations and 'beat squad' tactics by strikers and radical sympathizers.

"A majority of the workers here do not wish to strike, but they have been threatened with bodily harm and property damage if they continue to work. These men should be protected and allowed to work. They deserve the public support and the public should give that support.

"We are at a loss to understand why the valencia citrus industry, which offers the longest period of harvest employment, at the highest wage level of any agricultural product, in a state that pays the highest agricultural wages of any agricultural state in the union, should be selected for a strike, particularly at a time when the worker's income is the highest that it has been for years."

Just a Form of Farewell

Although it may seem a funny custom, this is just the way underclass members of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority at the University of Arizona have of bidding farewell to their graduating sisters—throwing them into the fishpond. It is Senior Rosalia Kendall who is in mid-air betwixt ground and water. (Associated Press Photo.)

Fisheries Leader Blasts McAdoo

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—An assertion that offshore sardine fishing interests were "in danger of complete scuttling at the hands of astute Senator William Gibbs McAdoo" was made today by Louis M. Hicks, executive secretary of the Pacific Coast Fisheries Institute.

Hicks said a rider to the administration's tax bill proposed by McAdoo would have "the drastic and shocking effect of placing the American industry in a class with the Japanese" by imposing an income tax of 3 1/2 cents a pound on sardine oil processed on the high seas.

"If this amendment is retained in the revenue act, the high seas industry is out of business over night," Hicks said.

First Swedish Air Crash Kills One

MALMO, Sweden, June 9. (AP)—A Canadian passenger was killed and 12 other occupants of a transport plane were injured today in the first fatal accident in the history of civil aviation in Sweden. The man killed was Laurence K. Desmond of Oakville, Ont.

Witnesses said all four motors of the big plane quit at a low altitude on the takeoff. The pilot attempted to land on a field, but the plane crashed into a house.

Marlene Injured On Location

HOLLYWOOD, June 9. (AP)—Marlene Dietrich, German film star, was under a surgeon's care today for an injured right hand and foot, result of an accident on location for "The Garden of Allah."

The actress, being chased in a scene by a group of Arabian beggars, was caught by the door of an improvised railway station as it slammed shut too quickly. She was rushed to Los Angeles and X-rays were taken to determine whether any bones were broken.

Townsendites Break Up Meet

GLENDALE, June 9. (AP)—The eleventh congressional district Townsend front was quiet today after a meeting of 800 delegates ended in a near-riot last night.

Six policemen were called after the Glendale delegates, numbering approximately 150, walked from the meeting and began singing Townsend songs in the lobby of the Masonic Temple.

The police, arriving in response to a plea that "someone is trying to break up our meeting," found things quite orderly, and a few of the officers, well along in years, joined in the singing.

The walkout of the Glendale delegation took place when members claimed they had not been notified of the meeting in advance, as required by the by-laws. The meeting was to elect a new congressional committee to name the eleventh district choice.

OPPOSE SALES

TAX REPEAL

Approval of the board of directors of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce to four resolutions to go before the associated chamber of commerce at its meeting June 30 in Huntington Beach was voted yesterday at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana group.

The resolutions condemn the movement to repeal the state sales and income taxes, further the plan of the chamber to reclaim Trabuco canyon land as a public park, and further a constitutional amendment in reference to the necessary amount of time before proposal and adoption of resolutions by the chamber.

The chamber has requested that certain property in the Trabuco canyon which had been filed on for mineral purposes, and which no longer produced minerals, should be given over to the public for park use. The plan will be voted on by the entire membership of the associated chambers at the next meeting.

Besides condemning the move to rescind the sales and income taxes and substitute the single tax, the chamber yesterday voted in favor of authorizing the appointment of two members of the associated group on a county-wide committee to fight the movement.

The fourth resolution recommends a constitutional amendment reducing the time for adoption of resolution from 28 to 18 days.

The Sidewalk Spectator:
To The Journal: See where the Hon. Herbert Hoover is to be one of the principal speakers tomorrow at the G. O. P. convention in Cleveland.

Mr. Hoover, you may remember, was our "do nothing" President. At least that is what we all thought at the time he was sitting in the "hot" seat.

But "Herbie" did have one brain child—the Reconstruction Finance corporation which, according to latest reports, has made $116,000,000 since it was created in 1932.

The Hon. F. D. Roosevelt, elected to be a "do something" President, yet all his bureaus have gone into the red at an expense of billions.

And so, we are anxious to hear what Do Nothing Hoover will have to say about Do Something Roosevelt, especially if he compares his bureaus with those of the present administration.

Yours for being in the audience instead of the ring for the next few months.

GLENN L. THORNE,
The Sidewalk Spectator.

Swanson to Edit Jaysee Weekly

Remaining staff offices will be filled in September. Swanson and Guthrie will have charge of the annual Freshman days edition, to be published Sept. 8.

College Plans Two Bungalows
Two new bungalow buildings to house domestic science classes, laboratories, and storage rooms are planned at the junior college, it was revealed to the board of education last night by D. K. Hammond, president of the college.

The bungalows, to be built on Bush street, would be 30 by 45 and 32 by 45 feet in size. Classes to be accommodated would be in foods and clothing.

Mr. Hammond was instructed to bring out detailed plans for the buildings to the board's meeting next week, and bids will be called for so the work may be done during the summer vacation.

THESE ZIONCHECK LETTERS SEEK HEADS

WON HONORABLE MENTION OF CULT IN S. F. FIRE

Following publication of the three prize-winning letters in the Zioncheck contest yesterday, The Journal is printing the letters which won honorable mention. They follow:

'Remove the Cause'
Zioncheck Editor: I offer in all sincerity the suggestion that publicity be taken away from Representative Zioncheck for 30 days. Love of publicity is what ails him, so just remove the cause.

His stunts grow more grotesque each time to make the newspapers notice him. If they just ignored him, I believe he would become just a minor nuisance. As he is going, no telling what he'll do next to get his name in the paper.

I do not especially expect this remedy to meet with a newspaper man's approval, but I do think it would work.

MRS. LUELLA JILES,
1335 South Birch Street.

Two Suggestions
Zioncheck Editor: In response to your request for suggestions about what to do with the political jumping-jack in congress, viz., dis-Honorable Marion A. Zioncheck, from the state of Washington, I can give you two suggestions in less than 150 words.

I remember one time when Will Rogers wrote that "Congress has met and organized, but has not had time to do any damage yet."

I notice that he did not say that congress is not making itself ridiculous.

I suggest that congress appoint a fresh committee to "pretend" to investigate the Townsend pension plan, making Zioncheck chairman of said committee. Either that, or assign him a position as writer for the editorial page of the Hearst newspapers. Ridiculously.

R. L. SMITH,
620 East Second street, Santa Ana.

No Bigger Nut
To the Editor: If it was up to me, I would turn Zioncheck loose. He is no bigger nut than the rest of the administration.

M. L. WILLITS.

Another Poem
Mr. Editor:
I would the hook connect
With Zioncheck's boozie neck
Same as the volville stage deck
By heck. GEN. DEL.,
Santa Ana.

His Wife, Too
Zioncheck editor: I would keep Rep. Marion Zioncheck in an institution for the "mental weak" and have his wife with him as she is just as bad as he is.

If there is any side rooms vacant, fill them up with people who kept him out of jail.

ELIZABETH ERICKSON,
1041 West Sixth street.

Publicity Seeker
Editor: You ask what shall be done with Zioncheck and his foolishness?
Here we have a man who is seeking the limelight, and the papers are giving him a lot of publicity, perhaps the wrong kind, but Zioncheck's eagerness to get his name in print makes him forget morals or anything else and he will go to any limit so long as his name is played up in the headlines—good or bad.

What's to be done, you say? Well, just forget this fellow and all his nonsense and keep his name out of the news and see how quick he will come to his senses, and realizing how little the public thinks of such tactics he will devote what little talent he had to constructive ideas.

The search for glory has turned many a head in the wrong direction and like the child whose manners are played up in his presence, we find him doing the same things over and over until even the parent is thoroughly disgusted as we find the public in this particular case. The press has a great influence for either good or bad in the lives of those who come within its scope.

D. E. DAWSON,
521 South Birch Street.

A Fade Out
Dear Editor: "Zioncheck" appears to me to be one of the various productions of present-day mass-mind ideas of what it takes to get on in the world. My suggestion as to this blatant, beer-guzzling, smoke-blind, bottom actor, is let him fade out.

It makes me shudder as I observe the notability given this cheap booby by the press of our country. Let us band together, while there is yet hope and time, to preserve, at least, the dignity of our congress.

G. ELLIOTT TAYLOR,
850 North Van Ness Avenue.

'Give Him a Medal'
Editor Zioncheck should be voted a medal for waking up Washington for the first time this year.

Any congressman who is steam-rollered between the administration and the voters during the campaign of 1936 and can keep his sense of humor enough to get drunk is one brave man.

After the examination he should be tenderly placed in a hospital, for we may have another war, and he ought to make a good officer. He surely commanded his land-lady.

Perhaps for the sake of the state of Washington he should rest up until the next war comes.

BETTY O'NEIL,
G'n'l. Delivery, Huntington Beach.

Here's a Poem
Zioncheck, oh Zioncheck,
We see your name, and what the heck
Has that twirp done today, we say;
We know it's quite out of the way.
Did congress have this bad effect?
(It never did get Zionchecked).
Or is he just a Peck's Bad Boy
Out looking for a different toy?

A new's reel man should stick around
And catch him as he "goes to town"
No wonder little Rubye Nix
Packed up and scooted to the sticks.
We really think the guy is happy
He surely made some swell news copy.
Doc says, he's work without a halt
Lets all go down and have a malt.
MRS. J. W. POWELL,
Orange.

Floyd (Arky) Vaughan
Leichtfuss Is Rewarded
C. N. B. Averages

Floyd (Arky) Vaughan, Fullerton's sensational shortstop, went into the Pittsburgh Pirates, went into the first time in 10 successive games yesterday while the National leaguers were shading Brooklyn, 2 to 1. . . . Linus Frey's fumble of Vaughan's grounder with the bases loaded netted the deciding run. . . . Joe Di Maggio, the San Francisco whirlwind, drove in five runs while the New York Yankees pounded out 16 hits to humble the St. Louis Browns, 12 to 3, the same afternoon.

Nightball musings: Larry Leichtfuss, Orange's burly first-sacker, was presented with a five-dollar bill by Commissioner Harry Nuffer preceding the club's home game with Santa Ana last night. The gift was Dr. J. E. Riley's reward to the first Orange player to hit the ball over the fence this season. Leichtfuss accomplished the feat against Westminster. . . . His cousin, Walt, hit a four-bagger last night. . . . Liston (Memph) Hill, Orange's fiery little third-baseman and playing manager, carries a genuine rabbit's foot in his right hip pocket. . . . Merle Urbine, who is studying for the priesthood in Santa Barbara, was in a Star undie last night. Merle, Santa Ana's southpaw first-baseman in 1935, was ready to "kill" Al Reboin, who was in conference with the Huntington Beach board of education relative to landing a coaching job, had failed to show. Reboin appeared just before game-time. . . . George Preble, the Santa Ana man who comes through in the pincches, has been hitting the ball hard lately, but sterling defensive work has robbed him of several safeties. . . . Tom Lacy's Green Cat cafe girls of Santa Ana will play a preliminary at the Orange-Anaheim game at Orange Friday night. Their opponent has not been named.

Thomas L. Berkeley, the negro sensation known as Tom, receives his sheepskin in graduation exercises at Fullerton Junior college today. Eastern conference rivals welcome the colored lad's departure. He was to Yellow-jacket basketball and track what his colored friend, Fred (Porky) Bell, was to Santa Ana football. . . . high-point captain and leader on the basketball, a 6-2 high jumper and a 24.1 sec. high hurdler on the cinderpath. . . . Dale Allison, who captained the Fullerton gridders at end last fall, also is among the graduating class. . . . The Yellowjackets retain the bulk of their athletic army.

Five athletes of the Commercial National Bank, co-leader with the First Nationals in Santa Ana City league softball, boast batting percentages above the .300 figure. They are Larry Mitchell, .750 in four swings; Jesse Ojeda, .462; Russell (Rusty) Sullivan, .389; Les Boyle, .385, and Ed Gaeb, .375. Braven Dyer, noted sports columnist of Los Angeles, carries a few bouquets this week for Fred Kelly, Orange High school's all-time track marvel. The compliment was sent in by Warren Lamport, former cinderpath king, who wrote as follows: "Fred W. Kelly stands out as the greatest competitive track athlete the University of Southern California has had. In his college career he was seldom beaten. No competitor ever conquered his determination to win. . . . I have seen him win the 100-yard dash, both hurdles, shot put and compete in the four-man-mile relay.

"Remember that at Berkeley, as the only representative of Orange High, he won sufficient points to give his school the state championship. . . . Remember, too, that as a freshman at the University of Southern California, Kelly completed the only solo in 1932. Treated as a virtual unknown, he kept his courage and his fight to win the 120-yard high hurdles, and established a new Olympic and world's record."

PETER JACKSON BOXES GARCIA

LOS ANGELES, June 9. (AP)—Cecilio Garcia, "bolo punching" Filipino, tangles with Young Peter Jackson, Los Angeles negro, at the Olympic auditorium tonight, determined to avenge a knockout administered nearly two years ago. Garcia, weighing around 146, will probably have a pound or so advantage.

Jackson knocked him out in three rounds in 1934, but Garcia claims he was weakened making weight for the negro.

MONZO THIRD COAST HITTER
LOS ANGELES, June 9. (AP)—A burst of batting prowess elevated Vince Monzo, Seals' catcher, from nowhere to third place in Pacific Coast league batting last week, figures disclosed today.

Monzo gained 37 points for an average of .357. . . . Joe Marty, also of the San Francisco Seals, kept his leadership with .413, representing a loss of seven points. Norman Kles of Oakland retained second place by remaining at .371.

PICO CRUSHES COLUMBO IN TWO FALLS

Kondelis Disposes of Zinn In Secondary Mat Attraction

By BOB GUILD
It was Viva Pico! again last night at the Highway 101 arena. The big gent with the blue whiskers, who came to the wrestling wars from the land of Chili, hogged the act as he did last Monday.

Following a three-act introduction featuring some good and some bad wrestling, and a "wild man" with golden locks untrimmed, Senior Don Juan Pico of Mexico jumped in against wily Casey Colombo, and very effectively eliminated that ring-scarred veteran from the evening's fun, in two straight falls.

Time for the piece de resistance of Promoter Sam Sampson's evening for a grand total of 24 minutes and 11 seconds, with most of the torture going into the first fall. The caballerito from the south took that heat after about 16 minutes of very even struggling, when he clamped on his pet of pets in the way of holds—the Pico toe-hold and half-split.

From then on it was a matter of Pico pushing and Casey collapsing. Which he did after 17:30, and limped into his corner very loath to go on with such performance.

Casey spelled his own undoing in the first fall. After dumping the Mexican matman to the canvas with a pair of diving tackles, Mr. Colombo had a lapse and left himself wide open as he came off the ropes for the third grand slam. Senior Pico launched a terrific elbow smash to the solar plexus, using his own ropes as a lever, and the mighty Casey was out. Time was 6:32.

Dean Rival Unnamed
It is still a wide-open question, however, as to who will get Man Mountain Dean next week. The birdies whispered last night that the jolly old man did not look favorably on a match with the slugging Pico. Then the birdies came back to whisper again that the odds were Dean will go in against George Kondelis, the Greek strong man.

Kondelis had the crowd by its ears last night as he disposed of a crazy creature by the name of Wild Man (Goldilocks) Zinn. These lads threw caution, wrestling, fame and fortune, everything to the winds as they scaped in and out of the ring, from the third row ringside to the middle aisle.

The wild man, with two feet of marbled and lush golden hair flowing about his shoulders, struck the keynote of the encounter when he failed to wait for the bell, nearly strangling Kondelis with his bathrobe before Referee Dick Rutherford could unscramble them. From then on hysterical women were removed to the safety of the galleries as the boys pursued their mayhem any old place where they happened to land. Some fun. The fall went to Kondelis with a body slam, in 21:17.

OAKLAND PLAYS SEATTLE NINE

By the Associated Press
Seattle and Oakland, running one-two in the Pacific Coast league race, grabbed the spotlight today with their series at Emeryville.

Manager Dutch Ruether's Indians, who dearly love their home park, capitalized on a two-week stay there by clambering into first place, while the Acoms, afflicted with battered thumbs, ineffective pitching and injuries, rapidly were whittled down to size. Their tailspin reached a climax in Seattle, where the Ruether hirelings won seven out of eight games two weeks ago.

Only two games out of first place, the Mission Reds invade Los Angeles, now reposing in seventh place. Portland, fifth in the standings, clashes with the last place Senators in Sacramento, while the Seals open up at home against the San Diego Padres.

Billy Betteridge Races Molander

LOS ANGELES, June 9. (AP)—A mixed match race between Greta Molander, blonde Swedish daredevil, and Billy Betteridge, former national champion, will feature the midget automobile carnival tonight at the Atlantic speedway. . . . Sharing interest with this event is the 40-lap weekly fight between inboard and outboard motored cars. Last week Ted Sizemore, an outboarder, set a new track record of 11 minutes 24.20 seconds.

CROWN FOR PRINCE

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Prince Gustaf Adolf has added the Swedish saber championship to many other sports crowns he has won. The 30-year-old eldest son of Sweden's crown prince is well known also as a daring and skillful horseman and front-rank skier.

Games Thursday
7:30 p. m.—Latter Day Saints vs. Knights of Columbus.
9 p. m.—Commercial National Bank vs. First National Bank.

Armand (Lefty) Hanson, mowing down 10 rivals via the strike-out route and limiting them to seven well-spaced blows, hurled Joe's Grocery to a 3-0 shutout over the South Methodists in Santa Ana City league softball at the Municipal ball last night.

The B. P. O. E.'s, otherwise known as Kenneth Miller's 1935 champion Elks, remained mathematical contenders for a three-way deadlock by warding off the contrary Carpenters, 8 to 5, in the afterpiece.

Now In Fourth

Victory from the Methodist rewarded the Sycamore street grocers with a clear claim to fourth spot in first-half standings. Competition reaches the boiling point Thursday night when the unbeaten co-leaders, the Commercial National and First National bank nines, mix in the game that may decide the crown. The First Nationals probably will coast in as champs with an upset Thursday, but it will be necessary for the Commercial, after winning this one, to halt the threatening Elks next week to gain a title without a play-off.

Scott, Clark Shine
M. E. South outclubbed Joe's nine, 7 to 4, but the grocery boys hit when it meant runs. Dominquez' double scored the winning counter in the first. Bob Mott's two-bagger and Gene O'Campo's single netted another in the second, and Pete Pandra scored on a long fly after belting a triple in the third.

Darwin (Scottie) Scott, third baseman, blasted two triples and a double; Alex Clark rapped a double and two singles, and Herb Bowe hit a double and a single to left in the Elks' assault on Pitcher Skeet Long of the nail-pounders. The Carpenters, who pressed the Elks 6-5 going into the third, were paced at the plate by Clarence (Pat) Patmon with two singles. Third-Baseman Bagwell smashed a homer with two aboard in the third. Gil Yorba tossed seven-hit ball for the B. P. O. E.

Alvin Reboin Assured Post At H. B. High

Definite assurance that he will be appointed to the physical education department at Huntington Beach High school in September was received by Alvin Reboin, Santa Ana Junior college coach, in a conference with the board of education at Huntington Beach last night.

HONOR WYKOFF IN GLENDALE

GLENDALE, June 9. (AP)—Frank Wykoff, the Glendale schoolboy who set the athletic world on fire eight years ago with his blazing speed in Olympic tryouts, will be honored with a civic banquet here June 16.

Now a Carpenteria school teacher, Wykoff is again trying for the American Olympic team. Speakers at the dinner will include Coach Howard Jones of U. S. C., Professor Frederick P. Weillner of U. C. L. A., and Normal C. Hayhurst, local coach who "discovered" the world record holder.

The Sportsman

By LARRY BAUER
Flies, plugs and live bait are the three means used by the millions who fish for sport. Many shift from one method to another to suit conditions and circumstances, but the dyed-in-the-wool scientist, angler sticks to one way of fishing, come what may. The word "plug" as used by fishermen covers a multitude of artificial lures, and might be stretched to take in spoons and spinners used for trolling, as these, too, can be cast.

The average plug caster uses a short, stiff rod and may be found tossing his offerings anywhere in bass, muskie, pike or pickerel waters. If one doesn't tempt 'em, he tries another from his well-filled box. It's o. k. to attach the line to the plug when bass fishing, but a short wire leader is recommended for the "teethy" customers.

Gleam in the Eye
You can identify the fly fisherman by his long, pliant rod, and by the fanatical gleam in his eye—especially if he is out to test a pet theory. He is found in great numbers along trout streams and is quite plentiful in bass country. There are two classes of fly fishermen—wet and dry. Dry flies represent insects and float upon the surface. Wet flies imitate the water stages—nymphs, larvae—of insects.

Bait fishermen use a longer rod than the plug caster but not as whippy in the tip as a fly rod. Crawfish, minnows, worms, etc., are cast into likely looking spots. As is the case with all other ways of casting it takes practice to get accuracy and to keep the bait on.

The pole-and-liner takes it easy by keeping his bait in one place until some finny denizen agitates the bobber before he casts a few feet above the hook and sinker. He gets rest while the caster gets exercise.

Prime Prospects for '36
In the mountain states, where the trout grows big and are full of fight, the lid is off with fishermen reporting prospects the best in several years. R. G. Parvin, Colorado game and fish commissioner, says:

"There's plenty of fish in the streams this year. Water has been plentiful following heavy snows. This is going to delay the fly fishing season until about August 1, but in the meantime the bait dunkers should have an interesting time. Bait fishing is good. . . . The streams usually become clear enough for fly fishing about July 4 but the season will be delayed about three weeks. . . . This year between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 fish from three to 14 inches long will be placed in our streams. This is about an average annual 'crop' from our hatcheries."

Games Thursday
Anheim-San Juan Capistrano.
Huntington Beach at Placentia.
Brea at Irvine.

Home runs were conspicuous all over the Orange County Night Ball circuit last night, while Anaheim edged out Placentia, 7-6; Irvine ran wild against Huntington Beach, 15-2, and Brea's Lions choked San Juan Capistrano's Blue Gooses, 15-8.

Clarence (Moose) Hapes and his brother, Ray, led Irvine's assault against Huntington Beach with three home runs. Clarence accounting for a pair. Pitchers Ira DeBusk and Ray Hodgson had perfect nights at the plate, DeBusk joining the Hapes brothers in the home run column.

Another brother act was staged at Anaheim, where the Jones boys—Bill and Del—hit circuit smashes with a teammate, Hargrove. All the extra-base blows meant nothing to H. O. Easton's Placentians, however, in view of Anaheim's fourth, five-run rally early in the game.

Aciano Avila of Chet Condon's Capistrano outfit met Al Colman's first pitch for a home run at Brea, and Buddy Forster also clouted one during the free-scoring circus. Virgil Kiger's Lions went on an astonishing rampage in the fourth frame, 14 batters bringing in 10 runs.

KVOE OFFERS THE STORY OF X-RAY

The interesting story of the discovery, development and application of the X-ray will be told in this evening's "Keep Smiling" broadcast to be made from KVOE at 6 o'clock. Included in tonight's program will be the organ selection "Souvenir," by Dr. J. A. played by Richard Jordan.

Two original compositions by Bob Nolan of the Sons of the Pioneers will be sung tonight by that group at 6:45, and Lem Siye will come forth with a yodeling number entitled "The Yodeling Cowboy." Nolan's compositions are "Echoes from the Hills" and "Wind," the latter being an out of the ordinary variety that has found favor with many of their admiring listener-friends.

Contrasting selections will be played by the Manhattan concert band at 8:30 to include "Regiment March" and selections from Friml's "Rose Marie." Twice daily, excepting Sundays, a report of stolen cars on a list furnished by the sheriff's office of Orange county is broadcast from KVOE to aid in the recovery of the cars by those which may be seen by the public on the highways, stored in private garages or those that are involved in accidents. The broadcasts are made at 12 noon with the exception of Mondays and immediately following the evening late news broadcast at 6:30. The early Monday broadcast is scheduled immediately following the 12:15 p. m. news broadcast.

Those seeing any of the cars described with their license numbers as given are requested to get in touch with their nearest law-enforcement agency, the police or sheriff's office, and are cautioned not to take the cars into custody.

REPORT GRAIN THEFT

Theft of five sacks of grain from a field near Costa Mesa was reported Saturday to sheriff's officers by Mrs. John Mosing, Delhi and Bristol streets.

Expressing thanks to Ernest Layton, Rodney Bacon, and Phil Brown for the part they played in arranging the celebration, the Lion Truth, club publication, today said:

"For a number of years we have lacked in this city a real community spirit. There has been entirely too much bickering over non-essentials, things which after all were used by certain individuals to keep in effect a constant unrest. The effort to destroy community spirit was almost successful; in fact many of us thought it had been at least effectively stifled."

"Instead, imagine our surprise last week when we really had a celebration that will go down in history as one of the finest things done by this little old village in many years. We commence to think that there may be some hope for us after all."

"The only trouble is we'll probably have to wait another 50 years for an excuse to break bread as a community. Let us hope that the boys will think of something else for us to get excited about."

Tells Location Of Gilman Ranch

Mrs. Carrie E. Ford of Fullerton has written The Journal the following letter regarding location of the Gilman ranch, mentioned in the series of landmark sketches now being published:

"In your county landmarks you have made the statement twice that the Gilman ranch was originally at the corner of Chapman and Placentia avenue. If my memory serves me right my father, the first settler west of Placentia avenue (Wm. M. McFadden), bought the first piece of ground from Stearns Rancho company, supposedly; but when he came to get his contract he found Mr. Peter Hansen had filed on the same piece (the corner of Chapman and Placentia), so he took a tract a mile south.

"Mr. Gilman's land (Semi-Tropic Fruit company), joined Mr. Hansen's on the north and always did, as far as I know. Historically, I think this should be corrected."

Bonus To Be 'Nest Egg' For Orange County Convicts

Up at San Quentin and Folsom prisons, behind stone walls and barred windows, probably 10 or 12 Orange county men will certainly be "home" when their bonus arrives June 16.

They, along with more than a thousand other convicts, will be eligible just like anyone else to get their extra money for serving Uncle Sam's army in the World war.

Won't Buy Radios
But unlike their buddies on the outside, they won't be buying radios, automobiles, or combination shoe horns and tire irons and a few years from now they're certain to have more of the money left.

From Orange county during the past year there have gone approximately 50 prisoners to the state penitentiaries, about 90 per cent of them to San Quentin. Perhaps that many again, or more, are still there from previous years.

But not more than a dozen of them are ex-soldiers.

Nest Egg for Future
They'll receive an average of $625 apiece in baby bonds, which wardens will guard like eagles. If they want to cash the bonds and turn the money over to lift the mortgage off the old homestead, that may be allowed by the prison boards. However, no attorney's fees, automobiles, or radios will be paid for either by the convicts or by their friends or relatives, with the convicts' bonus money. Most of the bonds will stay in safe keeping at the prisons, ready to be cashed on release of their owners, a "nest egg" with which to get a new start in life, according to prison officials.

MURDY HEADS 'SAVE SOIL' GROUP

Walter Pollard Elected Vice President of Association

Election of J. A. Murdy, jr., Smeltzer, as president of the Orange County Agricultural Conservation association was announced today. Walter J. Pollard, Tustin, will be vice president; J. H. Burnett, Santa Ana, will be secretary, and Mrs. Edith A. Straw, Santa Ana, treasurer.

Stephen Grisct, Tustin, was elected a member and C. E. McFadden, San Juan Capistrano, alternate.

Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory said today organization details have been completed to carry on administration of the act locally. Fundamentally, he said, the act has three purposes: to conserve soil fertility through development of a cropping program, to establish and maintain parity prices for agriculture, and to insure an adequate supply of food and fiber for the consumer.

The grower does not enter into any contract, said Mr. Cory, "but is given a grant on the basis of cropping practices. To be eligible the grower must file a record of 1935 cropping practices at the office of the association, room 302, court house annex, Santa Ana, prior to July 15. Following this an application is filed giving the 1936 crops and farming practices. All growers are invited to file a record of 1935 crops and practices."

Story hours for boys and girls will be held each Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. during July and August. Open hours for the junior department will be from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. on week days, and 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Saturdays.

The Julia Lathrop branch library will be kept open daily from 1 to 5 p. m., except Sundays. A small children's story hour is planned for 10-30 p. m. each Friday, from June 26 through July 31. Reading diplomas will be awarded children who read and report on a set number of books. Miss Juanita Lake is in charge of the branch library for summer months.

++ County Landmarks ++ San Juan Capistrano was Location of County's Original Walnut Grove

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. Today's article tells about the first walnut grove planted in Orange county.—Editor.)

The first walnut orchard in Orange county was set out near San Juan Capistrano by J. R. Congdon about 1871 or 1872, according to his daughter, Mrs. Ella L. Wilkinson, of Newport Beach. Mrs. Wilkinson said she has always been considered the first American child to be born at San Juan Capistrano. She was born in 1870.

The property which her father planted to walnut trees is on the west side of the valley, about one mile south of the mission. The grove consisted of 80 acres. The entire ranch spread over 360 acres. Mrs. Wilkinson said her father planted seedling oranges on the same ranch at about the same time.

When Mrs. Wilkinson was 17 years of age, her family moved to Santa Ana, where they lived at Pine and Cypress streets. The house is still there. She said her father planted the Indian cedar, magnolia and palm trees in front of the home. The family lived there until 1912. For the past 34 years Mrs. Wilkinson has lived at Newport Beach.

OPPOSITION IS SHOWN IN POLL

Beach Group Votes 1293 To 62 Against Wells Along Coast

First returns from the state wide post card poll being conducted by the California Beaches association indicate that the association will actively head the fight this year to prevent oil well drilling on tidelands.

The returns as announced today indicate a ratio of 21 to 1 against allowing tideland drilling.

Battle Launched

Of the 3000 members of the beach association only 62 were in favor of allowing the drilling, as compared to 1293 opposed.

The association launched a battle to keep the beaches free from oil wells last year, after the heated controversy which burst in the state legislature and press over the question of whistock and tideland drilling in the Huntington Beach area.

Governor Merriam failed to sign a bill which would have allowed whistock drilling.

Oppose Beach Wells

Huntington Beach and Orange county both are vitally interested in the outcome of the controversy, in view of royalties anticipated by the city, to be gained from exploitation of the state pools, described as the richest yet to be opened.

Further whistock drilling into the ocean pools has been stopped pending a decision on the matter, which is expected to come before the state legislature again at its next session.

The California Beaches association is expected to lobby strongly any measure which would permit erection of derricks on the beach proper.

Impressive Rites Unite Pair in J. W. Doughty Residence

An impressive ceremony this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the J. W. Doughty residence at 750 West First street united in marriage Miss Ida Alderman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton A. Alderman of 200 South B street, Tustin, and Wasson Doughty, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Doughty, of 1222 Eighth street, San Pedro. The Rev. Dr. George A. Warner, First Methodist minister, officiated. The Doughty home was appropriately enough the setting for the wedding, since it was through the marriage four years ago of Mr. and Mrs. Doughty (he the bridegroom's grandfather and she the bride's great-aunt) that the young people became acquainted.

Miss Alderman's brunette beauty was enhanced by her white quilted satin gown made semi-fitted with long sleeves, full at the shoulder, high neckline cut with rhinestone clips and row of tiny buttons down the back to the waistline. A tiara of bouvardia took the place of a bridal veil. She carried a lace "hankie" which belonged to her mother, wore a gold bracelet from the bridegroom and also observed the "something blue" tradition of brides. Her shower bouquet was of bride's roses.

The home was decorated with tall brass candelabra holding white tapers, tall baskets of white gladioli and other white flowers. A banked altar of flowers was used.

Reception Follows
Mrs. Austin Peterson, matron of honor, wore canary yellow cross-bar-sheer, made long with puff sleeves and square neckline. She carried lavender sweet peas.

Miss Dorothy Wilson was maid of honor, wearing a green frock made like Mrs. Peterson's, and carrying pink sweet peas. Miss Audrey Pieper wore dusty pink, similarly made, with a gardenia lei and old gold clips and played the wedding music. J. W. Doughty sang "Whispering Hope."

Carl Johnson was his brother-in-law's best man. A reception was given for 50 guests. The lace-laid table was centered with two elaborate wedding cakes and ice cream hearts and white roses were served with punch and cake.

Receiving guests and assisting in the reception were Mrs. A. A. Alderman in gray flowered sheer with white accessories and pink corsage; Mrs. S. E. Doughty, in black cut velvet with white accents and gardenias; Mrs. J. W. Doughty in beige lace and chiffon with white accessories and pink corsage; and Miss Ethel Alderman, an aunt, in violet crepe with white accents and violet corsage.

The bride was graduated from Tustin High school in 1934 and is also a graduate of the Orange County Business college. She wore a knit coral suit made by her great-aunt, Mrs. Doughty, along with accessories including a white coat crocheted by her mother, and gardenias, when she left on a wedding trip, planning July 1 to establish residence at 1818 Averill street, San Pedro.

To Live in San Pedro
The bridegroom was educated in San Pedro. He is employed by the Southern Counties Gas company at San Pedro.

Flowers for the home were from the garden of the bride's parents and aunt, Miss Ethel Alderman.

Last Friday, Miss Alderman gave a theater party and supper at home and presented clips to her attendants. Guests included the Austin Petersons, Miss Pieper, Miss Dorothy Wilson, Herb Walker, John Marshall and her fiancée.

Out-of-town wedding guests were Mrs. Ben Jenks and Mrs. James Hodges, aunts of the bride, from Covina; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Doughty of San Pedro, uncle and aunt of Wasson; Mrs. Idell Queens of San Pedro, Wasson's grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of Los Angeles, brother-in-law and sister of Wasson; Mrs. Rebecca Sherman and son, Paul, of San Pedro, and Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Strait of Berkeley.

Mary Stoddard Jealous Stepfather Makes Life Miserable for Mother and Her Two Children

We've read and heard much about "cruel step-mothers," but this mother's description of a step-father who masqueraded as a wolf in sheep's clothing caps the climax of cruelty:

Dear Miss Stoddard: My problem, I suppose, is not an uncommon one. I was left a widow at the beginning of the depression.

About three years ago, I met a man who professed to love me and who proposed to me almost daily for two years.

He pretended to love my two children also. A year ago I married him.

Almost immediately he turned from a Dr. Jekyll to Mr. Hyde. He seemed to hate my children (in fact, all children), and they could do nothing to please him no matter how hard they tried.

If my little girl, who is only 7, sets her doll on a chair, my husband throws it on the floor. If she tries to play with him or offers to do some little thing for him, with an oath he orders her out of his way. He treats my boy, who is a manly little fellow, in the same harsh, cruel way.

He told me that he didn't marry me because he loved me but only because he considered me beautiful and attractive and is proud of me. He makes a good living, earns good salary and dresses me well, takes me out to a great deal to "show me off" to his friends, so he says, and if another man so much as talks to me he becomes insanely jealous and creates a scene that causes me such humiliation. I would rather remain at home than ever go out with him.

Then he would sulk for days and days, never speaking a word to me, but heaping untold abuse upon my children. This state of affairs has existed the entire year since I married him.

I am ignorant, almost illiterate and utterly selfish. He can see no beauty in nature, while I love all things beautiful. I love to read good books, but must keep them stored away in the attic, as he will have no books around our home.

I have some literary talent which I would love to improve so I will be able to earn a living for myself and children, as I am sure I cannot live my life with the man I have married.

Can you tell me where I can obtain an education along this line? I have written a few poems and short stories and entered them in contests in which I have won a few prizes.

I shall also be most grateful if some of your readers can give me some advice to help solve my problem.

BETTER BY FAR THAT YOUR CHILDREN should live in a humble cottage with but a crust of bread and milk for their sustenance than to be subjected to such inhuman treatment.

When you continue to stay in a house with a man as insanely jealous as you describe this one, you are actually jeopardizing your children's safety. Even though you must plan them in temporary homes, you should do so for the present and then try to get your bearings.

SOME STOCKS ANTICIPATE THE BONUS

Retail Store Shares Make Small Gains on Quiet Demand

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—The stock market got its feet on another higher rung of the price ladder today.

Gains of fractions to a point or more were the rule near the start of the fourth hour, with retail store shares popular in reflecting next week's soldiers' bonus distribution.

Issues in quiet demand included Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Gimbel, Allied Stores, Associated Dry Goods, Woolworth, Westinghouse, Crown, C. C. Columbian Carbon, American Woolen, preferred, Loew's, Electric Power and Light, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and N. Y. Central. The motors and steels slipped a shade either way.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—A late rally in American Telephone stock around 4 points today gave the share list a brisk upward push.

The major communications issue responded to the resumption of dividends by its manufacturing subsidiary, Western Electric Co. Specialists, including retail stores and tobacco, were among the prominent gainers, along with several utilities and rails. The close was firm. Transfers were around 800,000 shares.

List by Wm. C. Cawley & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 516 North Main, Phone 600 and 601.

Ikugi Kikuchi Is Out Nine Dollars In Change Mixup

Woe unto Ikugi Kikuchi.

He reported he was out $9 today, but city police were unable to do anything about it.

Mr. Kikuchi told officers he bought an alarm clock in a downtown drug store Saturday, handing the clerk a $10 bill instead of a $1 bill by mistake.

Later, he continued, he noticed something was wrong, and returned to the drug store. He was told there that the mistake might be found if the cash register showed a surplus at closing time.

At closing time, however, the register in question was $2 less than it should have been, and he was $8 short instead of $9 ahead.

And Mr. Kikuchi got no refund.

MORE ABOUT LIQUOR DRIVE

siding officer of Orange county United Dry Forces, introduced E. E. Covert, Los Angeles local option worker, who explained issues at stake and the necessity for securing 250,000 signatures in order to bring the question to a vote in November.

More signatures are required than two years ago, because the 1934 gubernatorial election brought out an exceptionally heavy vote, he said. To secure consideration of an initiative measure, signatures of eight per cent of the voters in the previous gubernatorial election are necessary.

The speaker referred to current rumors involving Mrs. Helen Werner, Los Angeles, in liquor license matters now being probed.

Covert added that "contributions" from liquor dealers whose licenses were returned after suspension, were being added to by brewers, who are said to be backing the proposal of the state board of equalization, which he contended would permit selling of beer to minors.

The bill removes liquor containing 3.2 per cent alcohol or less from the intoxicant class, Mr. Covert said.

"That places it on a par with milk, legally. The brewers are aiming at our children, planning to educate them to drink," he said.

California is the only state where saloons are more sacred than bill boards, he declared. Police power can regulate billboards, but is not allowed to interfere with placing of saloons, while in other states, liquor establishments are locally controlled, said Mr. Covert.

Should the local option measure be passed by the voters in November, and the state board of equalization measure also pass, the result will be nullification of the latter bill in all territories where local option is put into effect, he explained.

A nickel will be asked as a campaign contribution from each California Protestant, to permit issuing of information about local option and to speed up circulation of petitions, the speaker said.

MODEST MAIDENS

"Sure I can swim. But I might get tired."

THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY

FOLLOWING PHIL'S INSTRUCTIONS, GORMAN PULLS OUT THE MAIN LIGHT SWITCH, DARKENING THE ENTIRE HOUSE.

WHAT HAPPENED, DOCTOR GORMAN?

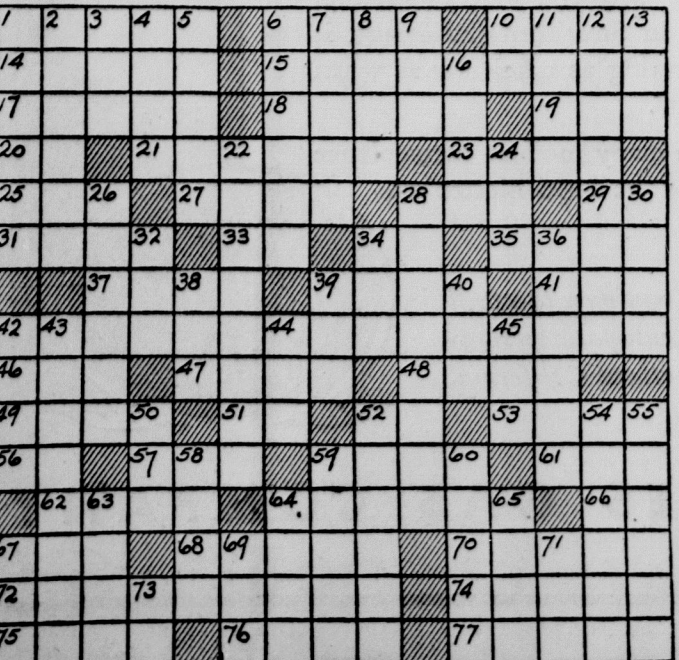

PSHAW! I'VE BLOWN THE FUSE. I'LL HAVE IT FIXED IN A JIFFY. MEANWHILE, YOU WILL ALL PLEASE REMAIN ABSOLUTELY MOTIONLESS!

BUT AS GORMAN FUMBLES IN THE DARK, ON A PRETEXT OF REPLACING THE FUSE, A FIGURE STEALS QUIETLY TO THE LABORATORY DOOR.

A G. O. P. Miracle Man

WITHIN a few hours you will know if Governor Alf Landon of Kansas is really the miracle man of the Republican party—or just another out-slickered favorite son.

As the convention opens in Cleveland, it seems like Alf is holding his place in the miracle class. Until Hearst picked him up several months ago, he was a comparatively unknown midwestern governor. Today thousands of G. O. P. stalwarts all over the country look on him as the leader destined to bring them back to the White House and a place in the national treasury.

Many of the Old Guard, however, are frankly disgruntled—Mr. Hoover and Sen. Borah among them. They have spent years and thousands for the cause—and they don't like to see Landon pop up and cop the power and glory. Hence the "Stop Landon" movement which may knife the prairie state candidate.

Indeed, there is no outstanding reason why the Republicans should nominate Landon—unless it is out of sheer hope. The Kansan has been so silent on major issues that the party hasn't even been able to guess what he will do with the nomination in November.

He has specifically dodged the constitutional issue, the money issue, the general monopoly, labor and price issue, and the power issue.

He is without experience in national and foreign affairs. And he hasn't a good radio voice (Democrats please note).

There are points in Landon's favor, however. He balanced the budget in Kansas when many other states—including California—were plunging deeper into the red. He is unmarked by that violent reactionary attitude which characterizes many of the leading Republicans. And he does not seem to have provoked any bitter personal enemies in the brief period he has basked in the national spotlight.

If Governor Landon is chosen as standard bearer we hope that he takes the country into his confidence on what he thinks about some of the major issues of the day—issues that have been brought squarely to the forefront by the policies of the Roosevelt administration. The voters are entitled to know.

Meanwhile, his enthusiastic supporters at Cleveland sing "Oh, Susanna," their convention tune, and chant "They can't stop Landon."

This may be gospel truth when applied to the Old Guard—but watch out for the donkey in the woodpile next November.

Suing a driver in Detroit for injuries received in an auto accident, a wrestler charges that he was permanently disfigured. But how can he prove it?

Muzzling the Press

EVERY now and then some "wise" man, usually a public official who has been upbraided for one reason or another by the Press, decides that newspapers should be muzzled.

This time Premier Aberhart of the Province of Alberta, Canada, is the man who has announced his intention of having a law passed licensing the newspapers up his way. He says they malign people and tear down life.

In this case we have the old, old actuating motive of revenge for criticism of officialdom. The premier was overwhelmingly elected some months ago on a platform of the principal plank of which was a $25 monthly "dividend" for everyone who had lived in the province a year.

Many politicians put out "bait" for votes, and the "dividend" idea was the lure which carried Aberhart in as premier. It was good while it lasted, but having elected him, the people were expecting results. Time went by and nothing happened as to the $25 monthly pay.

The newspapers of Alberta did their duty by exposing the fallacies of the situation, and likewise the fact that the new premier was not making good on his promise and program. He didn't like it. So he wants to "license" them. No doubt the editors will be able to take care of themselves and to maintain the freedom which they now enjoy.

Premier Aberhart will soon "move on," but the newspapers which have exposed him will continue. And doubtless the voters who were bilked will have no sympathy for the official who tricked the province, or for his little plan to control the critical press.

Two thousand Southern California and Arizona Boy Scouts have selected Irvine park for their annual campfire. That shows how smart modern youngsters are.

Safer and Saner

RUMORS of a strike among citrus pickers rumble in from Orange county's productive groves, and Sheriff Jackson sends armed guards into the area, declaring that professional labor agitators are to blame.

Regardless of the source of the threatened strike, both sides should bear this tested formula in mind: The time to settle a strike is before it starts. Too often strikes are permitted to drag along with both workers and employers refusing to talk over differences. And arbitration is not effected until both groups have lost thousands of dollars.

The safe and sane way out of a jam like this calls for a brass tacks meeting of the real leaders of both groups—with professional agitators and strike breakers barred. Then there's a chance to talk over mutual problems and to do the fair thing by all concerned.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Uncle Walt Mason, whose syndicated newspaper verse has delighted so many for years, has just passed his 74th birthday at La Jolla, Cal., where he has settled down in semi-retirement. Writing a little, but mostly walking with his dog and reading yesterday's stories.

Mason, Canadian born, began as a roaming job printer and has seen all shades of life in his gypsying. He began writing verse on the side in St. Louis, but it was William Allen White who gave him his chance as telegraph editor of his Emporia, Kansas, Gazette.

On the Gazette he turned out a paragraph of verse daily after "30" and it attracted such much attention a syndicate took it on. It appeared to cities as well as villages and was one of the outstanding features of the old New York Globe.

It is estimated that in his 29 years of poetizing he has written 8000 daily rhymes. Mason has been practically stone deaf most of his life, but believes he has avoided much annoyances by his affliction. He thinks every man should quit eating sweets after 60.

Many who receive those peremptory demands designed in the manner of court subpoenas to appear at the opening of this cafe or that bar feel somewhat like Whistler, who, upon receiving the summons of a salon committee, replied: Gentlemen, I never have been nor do I expect to be at any particular place at exactly 8 o'clock.

The deservedly famous Theodor is now bowing customers into his own restaurant in the East 50's. His full name is Theodor Szarvas and for many years he was the maitre d'hotel at the Ritz establishments in Paris, London and New York, and until the 1929 crack-up was considered the richest of his guild, bowling to his job in a limousine from his estate at Mt. Kisco. His new place is done in the Ball decor. Theodor is a friend of the literary great in many lands, friendships that include Mohr, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Michael, Arlen, G. B. Stern, and Dreiser. He is regarded as the world's champion salad mixer. And speaks five languages.

Harry Evans' new post as talent scout in the East for a Hollywood movie outfit broadens his scope as a getter-arounder—the No. 1 Man About Town. Talent scouting is particularly fitted to the Evans tempo, for he is in at the ringside of most important entertainment diodes. When he sees a likely prospect he tips off his bosses and they send agents with contracts. Evans came to New York from Florida about 10 years ago to be movie critic on Life, and later became publisher of a folksy trade paper known as The Family Circle, a venture he will continue along with his new chore.

Rob Wagner brings up a moot question as to just what a man is in his prime. And points to the Moose River mine disaster, where a young man of 33 was first to succumb, and another victim of 44 was trundled out on a stretcher. The one who stood the terrible rigors with the greatest equanimity was the fellow of 62 who came out by himself and with a smile!

New York has many rosy examples of vigor with years. Amos Sulka, the avenue haberdasher, is one of the spryest gentlemen for his years in the vesperal-hour promenade. He only dropped active duty a year or so ago in his 70's. George Blumenthal, art collector, also in his 70's, is more eager about life than most men of 50. And there is the incredible Col. Creighton Webb, born vivacious, octogenarian who is usually in white tie and tails and as gadding as the ubiquitous Lucius Beebe.

Beebe, incidentally, is in esteem with newspapermen because of his sheer love of the game. He is auroreled with something of the Richard Harding Davis patina—aristocratic birth and the cultural clippings of a Back Bay background. He has his flings in society, but much of the time he is in the rowlier dens. Unlike most of the weather "Journalists" he can write, as Frank O'Mally used to say, like a house afire.

I've often read about "the friendly pigeons of St. Patrick's." I'm not so sure. Today I walked toward a flock of them cooing, preening, and pecking along the churchyard balustrade. They may not have been making for me, but they suddenly whirled in my direction. The way they turned and walked away stiffly, whistling off-key, is at least one square for a comic strip.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

CLEVELAND, June 9. (AP)—Random jottings of a roaming reporter as the Grand Old Party stages its quadrennial version of the "Greatest Show on Earth."

Bill Borah has been grumbling backstage, more bellicose than ever against the Old Guard. He thinks the bunch that ruled Harding and Coolidge are now dominating Landon.

Probably Bill still remembers the convention of 1924—also held in Cleveland—when he had a chance to be vice president. Coolidge had been nominated on the first ballot. Hours of secret debate on his running-mate followed. Finally Postmaster General Harry New told the party bosses:

"The kind of vice president you want was crucified 1900 years ago."

In the end they picked Charley Davies. But at that moment William M. Butler, Coolidge's manager, informed them: "I have been talking by telephone to the White House. We must nominate Borah for vice president."

Icy silence. Butler turned to Andrew W. Mellon. "Mr. Secretary," he asked, "what do you think of Borah?"

"I never think of him unless someone mentions his name," replied the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton. No wonder Borah hates the Old Guard.

QUESTION-MARK HOOPER Everyone is speculating about Hoover. What he will do, is the big question-mark.

Contrast this to the last Republican convention at Chicago. On the opening day no one mentioned him. Not a picture of him in the convention hall.

Hoover's pals say he is still down on Landon. The latter, incidentally, wrote a piece for Red Book magazine just before the big show gathered here in which he mentioned only two Republican presidents—Teddy Roosevelt and Abe Lincoln.

DIPLOMATIC OBSERVER The man who is enjoying this convention most is Oswald Aranha, forthright ambassador of Brazil.

Aranha has a different way of nominating presidents in his country. He picks them himself. The present president, Vargas, was put in office by Aranha six years ago after a brief and bloody civil war. Aranha spent one year in the saddle organizing that war, was wounded five times, still carries a bullet in his shoulder.

WONDER WHAT'S BECOMING OF — A lot of familiar figures at past Republican conventions are missing today.

There is Hiram Johnson of California, for a year a stormy figure in Republican politics. He was offered the vice presidency with Harding, but turned it down. It would have made him president instead of Coolidge. Hiram now has the blessing of the New Deal.

Then there is Frank O. Lowden, now 75 years old and living in quiet retirement on his model farm at Oregon, Ill.

General Leonard Wood, whose deadlock with Lowden and Johnson caused the hopeless deadlock of 1920, is dead now. So is Harding, who finally won out. At 11 a. m. Harding told friends he was quitting politics to devote his time to newspaper work. At 6:15 p. m. he was nominated.

STOOL PIGEONS, ALL

To the Editor: Historians are agreed that the Roman civilization suffered premature death because its spiritual genius was inadequately supported by technical inventions. Ortega Gasset remarks: "If the Romans did not invent the motorcar, that was no mere accident. One of the ingredients that play a part in Roman history is the incapacity of the Latin race in matters of technical detail. This was one of the most active factors in the decadence of the antique world."

If a civilization can die of technical anemia, is it unreasonable to suppose that it can also die of technical high blood pressure? Western civilization seems to be facing the latter fate. Unemployment is one of its most obvious symptoms. Nine of every 10 persons in America are preoccupied with technical interests. Unless the depression, and its concomitant, the New Deal, succeed in forcing our minds to a more variegated type of thinking, our civilization is apt to pass out in a frenzy of mechanization. Spengler's prophecy may be fulfilled sooner, even, than he anticipated.

In the May 11 issue of the magazine, "Letters," President Karl H. Compton, of the Massachusetts institute of technology, touches the need for greater diversity in thinking. Says President Compton:

"I believe that the hardship in finding positions during times of depression has one compensating feature—it forces technically-trained men out of the beaten paths for employment and thus discovers unexpected opportunities for successful careers by men who have the ability and determination to blaze new trails."

Employment was made for man, not man for employment. The dependence of the many on the few for jobs is the fly in the ointment of modern industry. It makes stool-pigeons of us all.

WOULD TRY IT

To the Editor: I do not believe the house ever intended to give Dr. Townsend a fair hearing. Further, I suspect the house wanted to provoke the doctor into walking out by giving the public a bad impression of both him and his movement.

If I am not mistaken the house will regret its action and try to cover up before Dr. Townsend is through with it.

No one can truthfully say how good the Townsend plan is until it has been tried and I as a liberal think the people are entitled to at least a decent hearing and later a trial of the plan if they wish it.

JAMES SNYDER.

Remarkable Remarks

Our American teachers are a nervous lot. They should dance, smoke, dress in style and live like other people. Suppressions and frustrations of our teachers are bound to be reflected in the children they teach.—Grover C. Bowman, superintendent of North Adams, Mass., schools.

I don't want them to do anything that might make them self-conscious. Personally, if I were a man and had a grand head of hair like Rex Tugwell, I'd most certainly remove my hat.—U. S. Representative Florence Kahn, California, when asked views on men removing their hats in elevators.

I'm convinced that competition offers the only solution to the perfectly natural desire and right of more people to have more things.—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., industrialist.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

No Need of Destroying Other Men's Monuments

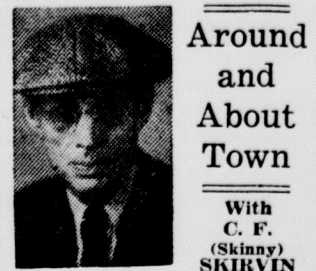

THE pyramids of Egypt are the greatest structures ever reared by man. The invading Arabs stripped those monuments of their gleaming limestone facing to build their own mosques in nearby Cairo. The conquering Turks, thrusting themselves into the hallowed scenes of Greece, robbed palaces and temples, adorned by the genius of Phidias, to erect their own poor imitations of those ancient glories. Barbarian hordes raided the eternal city of the Caesars, looting their treasure and hauled it back to their Danubian forests, their creaking wagons piled high with glittering spoils.

American millionaires, turning to art, are stripping the galleries of Europe to adorn their own museums. Totem poles of Alaskan tribes, grotesque and filled with graven symbols, are torn from their natural setting to stand stiff and ugly in foreign cities, the jest of unthinking crowds.

Rhine castles and Siamese pagodas are snatched from their bases to sit squat and vacant on some American hill. Monuments of a people's faith and progress fall before the destroyer that other people and distant climes may flaunt their conquests.

Wise, patriotic and sevicent men do not despoil their fellows in such fashion. They rear their reputations on their own achievements. They rise to eminence with and not against other men. They have learned that "you need not destroy other men's monuments to build your own."

Skinny Skribbles

This is the vacation season for everybody but the politicians. With the national conventions knocking at the front door a flood of labor will be released for those who want a public office. And within my recollection there has never been a time when there was a scarcity of candidates. Indications are that 1936 will prove no exception to the general rule. While a few want out of office a larger number want in, so you can expect to see the aspiring brothers at the luncheon club meetings prior to the primaries—and some of them afterwards.

Well, anyway, I hope that neither major political party introduces their platform with "we point with pride." We need a new phraseologist, and I'm rather of the opinion that the verbal technique will be different this year.

Several of my friends have been invited to attend a breakfast at 6:30 a. m. That's about the time I get home for dinner, only it's p. m. instead of a. m. It ought to be a good breakfast to get up that early, but if some kind souls are willing to prepare it, it ought not worry you to go to it. An out-of-door breakfast is a good appetizer. You don't need any other stimulant than the vigorous ozone. Try it sometime.

As one rancher expressed it there was just enough rain Sunday morning to do no good. Well, if it did no harm we might just as well skip it. No one expects a downpour in June in this section of the state.

What happens in the Republican national convention will appear in The Journal, so I'm not going to worry about that. There are other problems closer at home, such as the valencia orange crop and how much are we going to get for it. If the pictures of the convention are an indication it is going to be a hot affair, as the delegates are down to their shirt sleeves. Some of them will be down to their last dollar before it is over, as they are paying their own expenses.

Santa Ana has at least two old landmarks. The Spangler blacksmith shop and the old pepper tree just to the north of it. They typify the pioneer days which the city so recently celebrated.

Paul Tiernan came over from San Pedro to spend the week-end at home. He is preparing a special edition for a labor union publication. Paul says the fleet is in and that puts San Pedro back on the map. It disappears when the fleet goes out. That's one reason why I like Orange county best. There is always some one at home.

With one dead and 18 injured I rather get the impression that Orange county highways are a good place to avoid during the week-end. We have already piled up the unenviable record of leading last year's fatalities by two. The pity about this record is that many of the accidents are avoidable.

When the sun sinks in the west and draws the curtains of night over the firmament, often my eyes turn toward Saddle Back where I have a friend who sends me a memory message over the long vista of years, and the past comes up for mutual communion. Scattered from the peaks to the four winds are the ashes of that friend whose philosophy of life comes back so vividly to me, inasmuch as the fulfillment of those prophecies have come true. There are some associations which continue long after the earthly parting.

According to the sheriff's office paid agitators are bringing trouble to Orange county for the purpose of interrupting the valencia picking season. I've got a few thousand boxes I want to ship east, and inasmuch as I haven't the time to pick 'em, and over a long period of years our industrious Mexican friends have been willing to do so, I shall hope for a continuation of that arrangement.

This incident took place at the fourth annual Methodist-Baptist picnic held Saturday at Irvine park. The Rev. C. M. Aker and the Rev. Harry E. Owings beat all members of their respective congregations in a contest to determine who could most accurately walk a straight-drawn tape line while looking through an inverted telescope. There's a fine lesson, not in sobriety, as that would naturally be expected of the ministers, but self control and interpretation. When I was a kid I used to walk a straight-drawn line while looking through an inverted telescope, oh, well, leave me out. I want to congratulate Brothers Aker and Owings.
